Technology Advances

- A significant renovation and expansion of the hospital's diagnostic imaging department in 2015 added $2.4 million in state-of-the-art technology including new interventional cardiovascular and nuclear medicine suites.
- Calvert has adopted a broad level of information technology – including bar coding, computerized physician order entry, electronic health records and an online patient portal – that enhances quality care, improves patient safety and promotes better care coordination.
- Calvert's critical care telemedicine system has contributed to lower mortality and readmission rates. The life-saving technology allows intensivists at a remote location to monitor crucial indicators and intervene proactively, when needed.
- The breast center offers state-of-the-art imaging systems like digital mammography, stereotactic biopsy, breast MRI and ultrasound. 3D mammography, a recent addition, can detect even the most subtle signs of early cancer.
- The implementation of smart IV pumps throughout its facility, coupled with bar coding and electronic prescribing, places CMH at the forefront of medication safety in the state.
- A computerized tracking system, digital radiography and PACS (Picture Archiving Communications System) in the emergency department enhances efficiency while improving coordination of care.
- The surgery center features a state-of-the-art navigation system for sinus surgery, laser lithotripsy and endobronchial ultrasound (EBUS) for diagnosing and staging lung cancer.
